The matter was reported to the police and late that evening a young white man was arrested under suspicion of being the thief. He was held until yesterday afternoon, when he was discharged, there being no positive evidence against him.

Our young friend, Lieut. W. N. Scott, of Co. K, 2nd S. C. V. I., which is now encamped near Havana, Cuba, writes us as follows, under date of the 9th inst.: "Please send me the INTELLIGENCER, as I can't do without it. We arrived in Havana Friday morning early. We passed Moro Castle just as the sun was rising. It was one of the prettiest sights a person ever saw to come in at that time and look at the hills that surround the city. We passed in a short distance of the wreck of the 'Mame.' There is only a small amount of it above water. We got unloaded and went to camp, and we have a very pretty camp ground. We are about eight miles from the main part of the city, camped on a hill, where we will get a good sea breeze. We did not find Cuba as we expected. The boys were expecting to find a low, swampy country, but instead it was hills and mountains, and as fertile as can be. Cuba is sure the 'garden spot of the world.' All our boys are well satisfied, and a number of them say that they are coming back after they are mustered out. The Cubans are the most patriotic people I ever saw. They haven't anything too good for an American soldier. It was a sight to the boys when we first arrived here looking at the houses. The windows and doors are barred up like jails."

Administrators and executors shall, annually, while any estates remain in their care or custody, at any time before the 1st day of July of each year (Act G. A. of S. C., 1897, page 491) and guardians during the months of January and February of each year (Rev. St. of S. C., page 758, sec. 2179.) render to the Court of Probate, from which they obtained a grant of letters, an account of the receipts and expenditures of such estates the preceding year.

Prof. Albert Barns, of Clemson College, will deliver a lecture on Niagara Falls in the College Chapel on Saturday evening, Jan. 21st. The lecture, of a scientific character, will be free from all technicalities, of popular interest, and will be illustrated with a number of lantern slides. The lecture is given under the auspices of the Clemson College Scientific Association, an organization consisting of members of the College faculty and experiment station engaged in scientific work. The lecture is free to all who wish to attend.

Mr. John B. Armstrong died at his home in Varennes Township, five miles south of this city, last Monday morning at 5 o'clock. He had been in feeble health for several years, and heart disease was the cause of his death. The remains were carried to Barker's Creek Church and buried yesterday. Mr. Armstrong was the eldest son of the late Andrew Armstrong, and was born and reared in the Barker's Creek Church section. He was about 65 years of age, and was an upright, worthy citizen, who had the confidence and good will of a wide circle of friends and relatives. He leaves a widow, but no children, to mourn his death.

Mr. James Finley, of Greenville, died at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. W. A. McFall, in Varennes Township, this morning at 7 o'clock, of pneumonia. Mr. Finley came over about three weeks ago to nurse a sick son, who, with his mother, was visiting Mrs. McFall. A week later he took sick and gradually grew worse until death came. The deceased was a member of the firm of Finley Bros., popular and successful merchants of Greenville. He was about 44 years of age and a native of Scotland. A widow and three children survive him. The remains will be carried to Greenville and interred to-morrow.

Elizabeth Wakefield, an old and highly respected colored woman, died last Sunday night at the home of her son, Henry D. Wakefield, in Savannah Township, aged seventy-three years. Old Aunt Elizabeth was one of the old regime—refined, modest, gentle and respectful, mindful of the difference in station between the two races; and, above all, teaching her children that the white people were their best friends, and inculcating principles of respect and deference to their friends. She was a consistent member of Mt. Sinai Methodist Church, and died like a true follower of the Cross. She leaves two sons and two daughters, all well-to-do, honorable and valuable citizens.

In a copy of the Tifton (Ga.) Gazette, which we have before us, there is published a notice of a petition for a charter of the Seaboard and Gulf Railroad, which is to extend through Elbert County, Ga., thence on to Thomas County, Ga., and then through the State of Florida to Carrabelle, on the Gulf of Mexico, a distance of about 459 miles. The amount of the capital stock is $1,000,000, divided into shares of $100 each. The principal office of the corporation is to be Stillmore, Ga. In a private letter from Capt. T. F. Hill, who is now at Tifton, Ga., to his brother, Mr. R. S. Hill, he says the people down there are thoroughly aroused on the subject of the proposed road, and are coming here to tap the Black Diamond Railroad.

Mr. T. C. Shearer, formerly of this County but now a citizen of Grayson County, Texas, in remitting his subscription to the INTELLIGENCER, writes as follows, which we know will be read with interest by his many old friends in this section: "We are all well and doing well. We do not know why God, in His all-wise providence, called four of our dear children so early in life. This is a sore affliction. We are well satisfied with our new home and like this country. We are still farming, and can make a living easier here than we could there in our old home. We have not seen a sack of guano since we came here, nor have we hauled a load of manure. We can raise good crops without using fertilizers. We can make three-fourths to one bale of cotton, seventy-five bushels of corn, twenty-five bushels of oats or twenty to twenty-five bushels of wheat to the acre. We think diversified farming is the best plan throughout the South, and we think the farmers will reduce the average in cotton this year. More wheat has been sown here this season than last. We regret to hear of so many deaths of old friends in South Carolina during the past year. God is speaking to us. We wish you and all our old friends in Anderson County a happy new year."

Yellow Jaundice Cured.

Suffering humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from Yellow Jaundice for over six months and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. Dr. Redd, our druggist, recommended Electric Bites, and after taking two bottles, I was entirely cured. I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours, M. A. Hogerty, Lexington, Ky." Sold by Hill-Our Drug Co.

The Electric City Shoe Store is selling their entire stock of Winter Shoes at cost. It will pay you to go there for your shoes. Great bargains. 30-41. The Sullivan Hardware Co. is now pushing its Plows and Harrows. Read about it in this paper. Tremendous stock of guns, bought before the high price of war, into effect. Sullivan Hardware Co. will sell you a gun cheaper than they can be bought to-day at wholesale from the factory.

Christmas is Ended!
